Headsprout from Learning A-Z Wins Cool Tool Award in 2019 EdTech Awards

The awards program also recognizes three additional curriculum resources from Learning A-Z as EdTech Cool Tool Award finalists in four categories.

Tucson, AZ—May 9, 2019—The 2019 EdTech Awards have named the Headsprout® reading program from Learning A-Z® the winner of the Cool Tool Award in the “mobile app solution – early childhood and elementary” category. The company’s literacy-focused PreK–6 resources for instruction and practice were also named finalists for EdTech Cool Tool Awards in four additional categories.

Headsprout, an adaptive online and mobile reading program for K–5 students, was chosen as the winner from a total of 10 finalists in its category. In addition, Raz-Plus®, a blended learning platform for K–5 reading, was named an EdTech Cool Tool Award finalist in the “e-learning, blended, or flipped solution” and “mobile app solution – early childhood and elementary” categories. Science A-Z®, a curriculum resource that provides multilevel books and science experiments for K–6 students, was a finalist for “content provider solution.” Writing A-Z™, which provides teachers with comprehensive writing lessons, activities, and tools for K–6 students, was selected as a finalist for “arts, music, or creative solution.”

“When teachers are given flexible, powerful curriculum resources to deliver effective differentiated instruction, every student benefits—no matter what the subject area. We are honored that our blended learning resources for reading, science, and writing were recognized in this year’s EdTech Awards for lighting the way in edtech and shaping the future of learning,” said Patrick Marcotte, president of Learning A-Z. “We thank EdTech Digest for this recognition, and we share this honor with the more than 500,000 teachers around the world who use our products to personalize instruction and create a greater impact on students’ learning.”

The EdTech Awards were established in 2010 to recognize, acknowledge, and celebrate the most exceptional innovators, leaders, and trendsetters in education technology. This year’s finalists and winners were narrowed from the larger field and judged based on various criteria, including pedagogical workability, efficacy and results, support, clarity, value, and potential.

“The EdTech Awards 2019 celebrate edtech’s best and brightest all year long; innovators, leaders, and trendsetters who are shaping the future of learning,” said Victor Rivero, who as editor-in-chief of EdTech Digest, oversees the program. “A very big congratulations to the finalists of the EdTech Awards 2019!”
