This block contains three worksheets from Science A-Z. The first is an evaluation sheet titled 'Las cadenas alimentarias' (Food Chains) with a diagram showing energy flow from producers to consumers. The second is a 'Prueba del libro' (Book Test) with multiple-choice questions about energy sources and food chains. The third is a worksheet titled 'Las cadenas alimentarias y las redes alimentarias' (Food Chains and Food Webs) featuring a complex food web diagram with various animals and plants.

Learning A-Z

“I have been using Learning A-Z for two years now and every time I use it I always learn something new. I find this program very useful because it has books in both Spanish and English ... and I can assign books specifically to a student’s level.”

— Johanna Gonzales-Frias; Dual Language Teacher; Thomas Manor Elementary;
Ysleta Independent School District; El Paso, Texas

“Learning A-Z was a wonderful tool to use with my kindergarten bilingual students. It gave me an opportunity to have a library full of Spanish books in their individualized levels for the students to access. This allowed them to listen while following along reading the books to practice their fluency.”

— Mariea E Alvarado; Teacher; Lorenzo De Zavala Special Emphasis School;
Corpus Christi Independent School District; Corpus Christi, Texas
